The WFTU Expresses its Solidarity with Canada Postal Workers

13 Jul 2016

CANADA, NORTH AMERICA, SOLIDARITY

The World Federation of Trade Unions, representing 92 million workers in 126 countries, declares its firm solidarity with Canadian working class and Canada Post Workers who are currently facing an anti-labour attack. As in Europe, also in Canada, governments and multi-national companies are licking their lips at the prospect of large scale privatization. Canada Post is a similar case.

Canada Post's demands for massive concessions on pension plans, rollbacks on wages and working conditions is combined with their attempt to smash the unions, slash services and entirely break up the public post office. We also rise against the massive disinformation campaign led by Canada Post leadership, aimed at turning the public against the fair demands of postal workers. The employers are also using deliberate lies to convince the public that Canada Post is a non-profitable company that constantly loses money. The world workers are experienced with these kinds of lies deployed by every government that wants to privatize any social service.

We, as WFTU, will stand by the Canada Post workers if they are forced out on strike, until the satisfaction of the contemporary workers' needs.
