Earth Day

Postal Workers Have a Plan to Green the Post Office

As Canada's largest public infrastructure, Canada Post can have substantial influence and lead the way for other Canadian companies to become more sustainable. Let's green the whole fleet, install public charging stations at every Canada Post office, and create good, green union jobs. This Earth Day, imagine our public post offices as a hub of the new green economy.

Welcome to the postal service of the future.

We have a powerful vision, but we need your help. Join the movement!
