

The CUPW Child Care Fund

Family and Child Care Connections is one of our unions' child care fund projects that are helping postal and communications workers who have a hard time finding and affording quality child care.

This is part of the CUPW and UPCE-PSAC commitment to building better child care that meets the specific needs of postal and communications workers' families.

Special Needs

CUPW and UPCE-PSAC members also have a project that provides financial assistance and information resources for members who have children with special needs, or adult sons and daughters with disabilities.

you need*

Child care you deserve

High quality. Flexible. Affordable. That's the kind of child care CUPW and UPCE-PSAC members say they need – but can't find.

With Family and Child Care Connections postal worker families in St John's NL have support in accessing child care services and supports they need and deserve, thanks to one of the CUPW and UPCE-PSAC Child Care Fund projects.

That means having peace of mind while you're at work. And that means a lot.

Quality

Family and Child Care Connections is a community-based, non-profit early learning family resource centre and Family Child Care Agency located in St. John's, NL, with a second office in Corner Brook. It is incorporated as Family and Child Care Connections-CUPW-Family Resource Centre.

It is dedicated to the development and provision of affordable, accessible, inclusive and quality early learning and family child care. Through its Family Resource Centre and Family Child Care Agency, it provides education, support and resources to parents and families and the recruitment and approval of family child care providers.

All children will have quality early childhood experiences that provide for their optimal learning, growth and life long success.
